

Pray

26/08/2011 17:38 by admin

At Sehyog we know one of the greatest interventions against social cause, if not the greatest, is prayer. It can move mountains

If there isnâ€™t, and you have the enthusiasm to start one, weâ€™d love to chat. Weâ€™re also keen to link up with groups of intercessors, who are able to commit themselves to praying more specifically into one area of the world.

If you would like to find out more about encouraging local area to pray, we'd love to chat this through with you.

How often do you have a really good look at your hands?

Go on, have a sneaky peak right now. Weird, aren't they?

Think about all the things they do, all the talent and potential they represent. Yet right now they probably just look plain and empty; they look kind of unimpressive. Prayer's like that. Kind of. Look at it on its own and it's kind of ordinary - just a collection of words and thoughts and ideas and feelings. But it's got potential. Lots of potential.

Prayer can stir up hearts

Prayer can change lives

Prayer can end poverty

Prayer works because of the one we're praying to. And it gets us closer to God too.

What are we praying for? We want to see an end to poverty. We also want you to pray for the millions of people around the world who are living among the poor. We want to pray for transformation. We want to pray that ordinary lives will unite to tackle social cause head on. but we can't achieve this without prayer. And we want you to pray for you and the people like you. Pray that you all get fired up and determine.